NEWS RELEASE

CHARLOTTESVILLE-ALBEMARLE AIRPORT TO OPEN NEW GALLERY FOR LOCAL ARTISAN EXHIBITS

Charlottesville-Albemarle Airport, VA (October 20, 2008) –

The Charlottesville -Albemarle Airport is pleased to present the first exhibit in the new Art in the Airport program on October 20, 2008. In an effort to support our new vision of becoming “Central Virginia’s Airport of Choice”, the Local Artisan Exhibit section of the program will enhance our customers experience by providing an atmosphere unique to the region. The first Local Artisan Exhibit will be provided by the extremely talented Virginia Stone Carvers Guild and reflects the diversity of the Blue Ridge Mountains - Piedmont and Shenandoah, urban and rural and will be sure to engage all travelers with an innovative, memorable experience. The exhibit will be on display until January, 2009.

With the amount of interest from our local artisans, CHO’s Art in the Airport Program will provide a connection to the community that will welcome new travelers to the region as well as a refreshing welcome home for our own loyal passengers.

We encourage you to fly with CHO and enjoy just one of the many customer service initiatives currently underway. Check out www.gocho.com for the latest airport news.

We look forward to seeing you.
